Paul Hancock joins Infiniti.

Infiniti Insurance on Monday announced the appointment of Paul Hancock as general manager. Hancock's primary responsibility in the new position will be oversight and monitoring of some existing specialist underwriters as well as contributing to the growth of the specialist underwriter portfolio. He will also be responsible for the origination of a structured corporate portfolio.

Hancock moved from Mutual & Federal, where he joined the Mutual & Federal risk financing team in 2007 and in 2010 became the general manager, risk and compliance for Mutual & Federal. This also involved being the business owner for Solvency II, whereafter he moved back to Mutual & Federal risk financing in late 2011.

Hancock has a wealth of experience in corporate governance, internal auditing, enterprise-wide risk management, structuring insurance programs and the regulatory solvency regime.

"This experience will strengthen an already strong executive team at Infiniti and we look forward to Paul's contribution in many facets of our business. We count ourselves fortunate to be able to attract someone of Paul's caliber to the Infiniti executive," said the company in a statement.

Hancock is a qualified chartered accountant and certified internal auditor. He served his articles with Coopers & Lybrand and thereafter was involved in the internal audit profession with Liberty Life, London Rhodesian Mining, CGU Insurance and Mutual & Federal Insurance. His auditing career spanned some 16 years. Paul was also involved as a director of the Institute of Internal Auditors responsible for various portfolios within the Institute.
